Praises Secretary Mellon

Tells of Post-War Financing and of Prosperity of Country
Now as Compared With Conditions Immediately After World War

New York, April 15. — Secretary of State Hughes, in delivering the keynote address at the opening of the Republican state convention in Town hall tonight, roused the delegates to a high pitch of enthusiasm when he said, "You will search in vain for a more ideal executive than President Coolidge."

The audience cheered this utterance for several minutes.

The secretary, a former governor of New York state, adhered closely to his prepared address, in which he expressed confidence in the President's leadership and said the party was undismayed by tale bearers and scandal mongers.

Praises Secretary of Treasury Mellon.
Secretary Hughes devoted a considerable part of his address to the senatorial investigations at Washington. When he said, "We would not put any obstacle in the way of discovery and punishment of any official dereliction," he was roundly cheered.

He praised Secretary Mellon for his post-war financing, told of the prosperity of the country now as compared with conditions immediately after the war, and commented upon the agreements reached at the Washington arms conference.

The secretary arrived in New York from Washington a few hours before the meeting, and laid down by the victors in the great war, and of introducing into the new world the new world.

for the convention and was warmly greeted. Before his address he declined to comment on the action of the senate today in voting a Japanese exclusion provision into the immigration bill. He returned to Washington immediately after his address.

"We Do Not Condone Wrong."

The secretary's address was the feature of the opening session. After that concluded, speeches were made by the following:

He had concluded, committee members were appointed to transact the routine business tomorrow when seven delegates-at-large will be named to the national convention at Cleveland.

"Let it be understood that we do not condone wrong; we extenuate no crime," said the secretary. "We would not put any obstacle in the way of the removal of any of the officials from the office of total dereliction. We would bring to the bar of justice every dishonest official and every perverter of administration in or out of office. This is a duty which can be, and will be, competently discharged by the appropriate agencies without any sacrifice of constitutional procedure.

Schuyler Lake, April 15.—There will be a double reception in the M. E. church for the new pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Horace Weavers, and a farewell for Rev. and Mrs. Frank Benfield from 7 until 10 o'clock Friday evening of this week. Everyone is cordially invited in the town, community and at Exeter Center to attend.

Whisper Dinner. The Woman's Mission circle of the Baptist church will hold its monthly meeting in the church parlors Wednesday. Dinner will be served from 12 until 1 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

Burn Burns. The barn known as the cheese factory barn in Pleasant Valley was discovered to be on fire Monday afternoon and burned to the ground with all the contents, which consisted of a new auto owned by Smith Shepard, who lives on the place, and a threshing machine and corn blower owned by Paul Light. It is thought to have caught from a spark from Young's saw mill across the road and owing to the high wind had too much of a start before discovered by Mrs. Lyle Dyer, a neighbor, who gave the alarm. We understand there was no insurance on the building, or contents.

Funeral of Mrs. Dyer. The funeral of Mrs. Arba Dyer was held from her late home Friday at 1 p. m. Rev. Davies of Richfield Springs officiated. Mrs. Harold Brockway sang two solos, "Lead, Kindly Light" and "He Has Wiped Away All Tears." Burial was made her husband in the village cemetery. Among those who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Talbot and daughter of Berkham, Floyd Wayman of Leno, Mrs. Loomis Burwell, Miss Florence Hayek, Mrs. Ellen Johnson, Mrs. Weeks and Mrs. Brown of Leno.

New Pastor Arrives. Rev. and Mrs. Horace Weavers, the new Methodist pastor, arrived in town

Friday evening and have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Allen and also calling on the people at Exeter Center until the parsonage is made ready to occupy. He preached a very fine sermon Sunday morning and we are very glad to welcome them to our midst. We also regret to have Rev. and Mrs. Benfield leave our village, for they have made many friends during their stay.

Easter Vacation. The teacher and pupils of the village school are enjoying their Easter vacation this week. Miss Helene Leach left Friday evening to visit her parents, at Gloversville.

Minor Mentions. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holbrook spent Sunday and Monday with his parents at Leno. We are sorry to learn that his mother is in very poor health, having suffered a shock a few weeks ago. Miss Helen Stephenson of Otsego is visiting her friend, Miss Frances Washburn, for a few days. Miss Esther Schaub is visiting her parents at Leno this week.

FROM THE COUNTY SEAT.

Cooperstown, Apr. 15.—Mrs. Mary Ann Bush died Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nelson Braze. She was born June 22, 1844. Surviving her are two sons and two daughters, Walter and Lyman Buell, Mrs. Julia Buell Wood and Mrs. Nelson Braze. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Braze, Rev. C. E. Brown officiating. Burial in Lakewood cemetery.

Herkimer H. S. Beats Cooperstown. The Cooperstown High school baseball team played a Herkimer team Saturday at Little Falls. The home team was defeated by a score of 4-3. Charles Wick is captain of the home team; James McDonough, manager; Leslie Slavin, coach. The Methodist Episcopal church of Little Falls entertained both teams at the banquet of that evening and the Cooperstown young men were very much pleased at the manner in which they were treated.

Guests at Knox School. A group of students from the Albany academy for girls arrived here Friday afternoon to be guests of the Knox school. Miss Batcheller chaperoned the visitors. Friday evening the Knox girls entertained at a party in honor of the visitors. Saturday morning there was a basketball game between the teams of the two schools. The Albany girls returned home Saturday afternoon.

I Still Look 20

after 32 years as a star
By Edna Wallace Hopper

Some of you remember me as a famous stage beauty over 30 years ago. Perhaps in "The Girl I Left Behind Me" or "The Belle Helene" in "Wang" or "Floradora." Many of you see me now, playing young girls' parts, still looking like a girl in her teens.

Thousands of women have asked me the secrets of this perennial youth. I have supplied them to many, and they, like I, have kept their girlish charms.

Now I am persuaded that I owe this freshness to all womankind. I have obtained by world-wide search, the best beauty helps in existence. I know they will bring to millions what they brought to me.

So I have arranged to supply these helps to all who want them—as a duty to my art. I have had them prepared with the utmost skill, without regard to cost. And they are sold at modest prices, with small profit.

Thus I hope to bring to girls and matrons everywhere the benefits I got. And to women could ask for more.

My Beautiful Mother. My mother died a girlish beauty at the age of 37. From my earliest years she taught me her secrets. Then together we traveled the beauty-loving world in search of better methods.

We consulted able scientists, beauty experts and famous beauties everywhere. The search cost us a fortune. But I brought to me and mine, and friends of mine, decades of added youth.

Now these helps are yours if you desire the best that science knows. And I hope that my results will lead you to improve.

White Youth Clay. I owe my debonair complexion largely to a superlative, not like the crude and badly clay on many one today, but a cream, refined clay which dries white. It is based on 20 years of scientific study by the ablest of clay experts.

One who applies it feels the important fairly drawn from the skin. At that time the skin comes out—the curves of her cheeks and forehead. The blood is brought to the surface. Large pores, black and wrinkles yield.

With it of when it dries, then behold a soft complexion, soft and rosy, clear and free. The results will amaze and delight you. Many women in these 30 minutes have to drop ten years.

Try it, a beauty essential. No woman could be without it, even keeps her youthful bloom. Women who use clay to their skin come out in a crowd.

Look at the trade and weekly clays for a skin beautifier. Try this superlative cream—the best used in facial clays. It is a beauty production.

Youth Cream

This is my cold cream which I apply at night. Also in daytime as a powder base. Also after every application of my Youth Clay or Facial Youth.

Youth Cream contains both lemon and strawberry. It is the only cream, I believe, which combines these fruit effects. It softens, whitens, feeds and firms the skin. After its use I awake in the morning blooming like a girl in her teens.

In all my many years of searching I have never found a cold cream to compare with this. Nor has any woman whom I know. Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream costs 90c per jar.

It comes in two types—the Cold Cream type and the Vanishing type. Be sure to get the type you want. Both have the same essential constituents. Neither grows hair on the face.

Hair Youth

My hair is my greatest glory. It is thick, silky, lustrous and grows faster every year. Before I belated it, it fell below my knees. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Nor has my friend who uses my formula. Nor had mother, who found this formula in France. She died at 52 with hair like mine today.

This is due to my Hair Youth. I apply it daily with an eye-dropper—just enough to dampen the scalp. This method does not wash the hair.

Hair Youth daily combats the hardened oil and dandruff which clogs the hair's growth. It stimulates and fertilizes the hair roots, from which come hair health and hair color.

Look at the luxuriant hair. Then ask what I used to get it. Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth costs 25c and $1.00 with eye dropper.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Beauty Helps are now sold everywhere. But I will gladly send you a test of one, and with it my Beauty Book. Check in this coupon the one you want and send it to me today.

SELLS BOTTLING WORKS

E. E. Seatchard Disposes of Growing Business to Willis D. Caulkins Who Will Continue Manufacture of Klipnokie Club Beverages.

The Oneonta Bottling works, manufacturing Klipnokie Club Sparkling beverages, has been sold by its proprietor, E. E. Seatchard, to Willis D. Caulkins, steward at the Elks' club, who has taken possession and will hereafter conduct the business. Mr. Seatchard is undecided about his plans for the future.

The concern, which is located at 7-8 Lewis street, was started in 1893 by J. L. McLeese, who sold out in 1917 to Alden J. LaGrange. Mrs. LaGrange conducted the business for two years, then selling to Carl L. Shearer. Early in 1929 Carl G. Bedford acquired a half interest, which he disposed of in December of the same year when he acquired the interest of Shearer.

The plant is equipped with the most modern manufacturing and bottling equipment and an extensive business in the Klipnokie Club beverages has been built up. Last year 18,000 cases of the popular drinks were sold. Mr. Caulkins is a young man of industry and ability and his friends are prophesying for him gratifying success in his new enterprise. He has announced that the high standards maintained by Mr. Seatchard will be his as well and that he will strive to keep up the quality and purity which has characterized the Klipnokie products. His place as steward at the Elks' club has not yet been filled.

SEWER FOR WEST END

Water Boarded at Oneonta Council Meeting—Meeting Called of Residents of West End.

The matter of a sewer to serve sections of the city and town of Oneonta at West End was discussed by the common council, members of the board of public works, and E. E. Riskey, representing residents of West End, at the regular meeting of the common council last evening. The need of such a sewer was clearly established and Mr. Riskey agreed to call a meeting for Monday evening at the Plains school of residents of West End to discuss the matter.

The need for a sewer to serve West End and sections of the city near the town line has been felt for some time and the matter has been discussed at various times in the past but no definite agreement had been reached. The plan is to extend the trunk sewer down Main street to Cooper street and down that thoroughfare to the river. The cost would be divided between the city and the town.

The matter of adequate traffic regulation signs at the entrances to the city was discussed and the council placed itself on record as being heartily in accord with the wish of the police commission to have placed sufficient signs of adequate size. The commission was requested to notify the council of the number of signs needed and their approximate cost.

It was voted to appropriate not more than $125 for the purchase of stone for use in macadamizing the areaway at the rear of the Municipal building, which is now almost impassable in times of wet weather.

City Attorney Huntington reported that the city would soon be called upon to defend an action brought by the executors of the estate of the late Fred Traver, who died from injuries alleged to have been caused by a fall on Center street during the construction of the pavement last summer, and asking for $25,000 damages. He stated that a representative of the company which has bonded the J. P. McDonald Construction company had visited the city and had agreed to make care of any liability incurred by the city in the matter.

TILLINGHAST ESCAPES

SLIPS AWAY FROM SHERIFF CONVERSE IN NEW YORK CITY.

Oneonta Young Man Indicted for Grand Larceny at Cooperstown and Apprehended in Miami, Florida, Evades His Guards While at Lunch Counter in Metropolis—Was Being Brought Back to Cooperstown, to Answer to Indictment.

An Associated Press dispatch dated at New York city yesterday gives the following story of the escape of Ivan S. Tillinghast, well known in this city from Sheriff Robert R. Converse in that city while they were enroute to Cooperstown.

Ivan S. Tillinghast, wanted in Cooperstown, N. Y., to face an indictment charging second degree grand larceny, and who had been brought here by Sheriff Robert R. Converse, of Cooperstown, from Florida, escaped early last morning from the sheriff when they were in the Grand Central terminal.

Tillinghast was wearing a straw hat and summer clothes. Tillinghast, according to Sheriff Converse, is 22 years old, and a son of wealthy parents in Cooperstown. Several weeks ago he stepped into a motor car, belonging to someone else, drove to Miami, Fla., and was found there by Converse and a deputy, the sheriff said.

Tillinghast and his two guards arrived at the Pennsylvania station early today and taxied to the Grand Central where they had breakfast in the lunch room, the prisoner sitting on a stool between his two guards. He disappeared while they were eating.

The sheriff said Tillinghast had 30 cents in his pockets.

Sheriff Converse had not reached his home at Cooperstown last evening and he could not be located in New York city, hence no additional facts could be learned.

Sheriff Converse and District Attorney Campbell had gone to Miami, after Tillinghast, following receipt of news here that he had been taken into custody there, with a car in his possession which he had stolen here. It is considered probable that the young man will soon be apprehended, as his latest escape is well known in a widespread search for him.

Joint Meeting of St. James' Church. A joint meeting of the Women's auxiliary of St. James' church and guild was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of doing work for the Easter sale to be held Thursday, April 21, beginning at 2 p. m. The sale will be of fancy and useful articles. There will be another meeting of the same organizations next Tuesday for the purpose of completing the work and making plans for the supper.

CHAUTAUQUA DATES

Summer Course of Entertainments July 19 to 28

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM

Madcap Chautauqua Brings to Oneonta Frank Benson and Dr. Teyal "Smilin' Through" and "Give and Take" Musical Features Many with Radio Artists.

Oneonta's Redpath Chautauqua commences Saturday, July 19, and closes Friday, July 28, and tickets will be $2.25 and $1 respectively and it will be presented, it is expected, on the lower level at Wilber park, the grounds which have been used for several seasons.

At the meeting of the guarantors of Commerce rooms last evening, Robert Hall was re-elected president and E. J. McEwan, secretary and treasurer. Tickets will be apportioned among the guarantors and will be on sale 30 days in advance of the opening day. The Oneonta council of Scouts was named as the beneficiary under the present plan. It is not expected that there will be any funds, however, to apportion.

Mrs. Winifred E. Cook, the capable advance representative, was present and outlined the program. She wished all the guarantors, past and present, to understand that the management appreciates the untiring effort and interest of its loyal friends and expressed a hope that the institution is doing something to direct public interest and attention to things worth while and develop appreciation among the young for entertainments of worth.

On the afternoon of Saturday, July 19, the Chautauqua opens with a prelude by one of the best singing companies on the road, "The National Male Quartet," followed by Hon. Frank D. Pearson, former commissioner of education from the state of Ohio and editor of the Ohio Educational Monthly. His subject, "World Building," Mr. Pearson does not deal with the geographical, political, or economical world, but with the world of the individual. He says that the kind of world in which we live depends on the kind of things in our own heart, that so many people never get anywhere because they are not going anywhere.

The entire evening is given by The National Male Quartet in their program of quartets, duets and unusual impersonations of Harry Lauder, the late Bert Williams and other well known artists, by the manager, himself, who is in the quartet and who was at the head of an entertainment division serving directly under General Pershing in the World War.

The second day opens at 9:00 a. m. with a class in art for the children. In the afternoon "The Zedler Symphonic Quintet" will give a high grade instrumental program. The quintet is under the management of Nicholas Zedler, the distinguished cellist formerly of the Stockholm Symphony orchestra, Sweden. It ranks among the greatest of orchestral organizations for its size in this country today, in musicianship and mastery appeal.

A prelude by the orchestra opens the evening program, followed by Frank Dixon in his powerful message "The World Challenge to America." Mr. Dixon is a brother of Thomas Dixon, the author of "Leopard Spots." He speaks on the fighting issues of the day. He discusses deep international problems in language that is well understood. He destroys that he may build, he smites that he may heal.

The art craft work is continued on the third morning. On the afternoon of the third day, one of the best educated Chinamen in the world will speak on "Present Day China." Dr. Feby Hsieh. He is managing director of the Chinese Trade and Labor bureau and ranks high in the councils of his own government. He is known as "The Theodore Roosevelt of China."

In the evening of the charming story the modern classic, the three act play, "Smilin' Through" will be presented by an unusually good cast. It deals with love, youth, misunderstanding and a sadly misplaced desire for revenge. It has great pulling possibilities.

The fourth day brings one who is no stranger to a Chautauqua audience, the Scotch Canadian baritone, "Knight MacGregor." He is placed on the program in response to many requests by Chautauqua patrons.

His assisting artists will give a prelude in the evening to a graphic story told by one of the most prominent women orators in this country, "Ruth Bryan Owen." It is a great plea for non-partisan arbitration for the settlement of international difficulties, based on public opinion as a means to bring about a desired condition.

On the fifth day Dr. Chester E. B. will give a double message. In the morning, "The Winning Spirit of the Twentieth Century," and in the afternoon after a musical prelude, "The Failure of the Middle Ages." Dr. Sanford is an educator and a writer. He is of real service to young men and women in answering the question "What Can I Do in the World?"

The modern three act comedy "Give and Take," is presented on the fifth night. Aaron Hoffman wrote this play and placed in Louis Mann's hands a great vehicle for the exploitation of his talents. It is full of laughs and clever situations, and plenty of good business philosophy.

The last day may well be called "Joy day," for both the parents and the children. The children have a morning for an exhibit of their work and to stage their parents. The afternoon is an especially prepared program for the children, a company of young women musicians with Edward Reno, the well known magician.

On the evening of the last day the young women musicians introduce the southern humorist, the finished humorist, "Jesse Fugh." He has a great philosophy of life with the ability of seeing funny without being silly and being deep without being dull.

We are mighty proud of our Easter flowers. They are fairly priced and perfectly grown to be just right for Easter. Plants in eleven varieties and cut flowers in two sorts of all colors of the rainbow. "The Telegraph Florist," Oneonta, 27 Grove street, flower shop, 197 Main street. advert.

BOYS CORIAN PROPERTY

Oneonta Produce Company Will Be Located on Market Street After October 1—M. E. Gorham to Retire.

The Corian-Elmick company of Schenectady, doing business in Oneonta under the name of the Oneonta Produce company, has purchased of M. E. Gorham the brick block at 15-16 Market street, occupied by Mr. Gorham as a machine shop, and will take possession October 1, using the building after that date for their wholesale fruit and produce business, now being conducted at the rear of the Oneonta Hotel building. Mr. Gorham will retire from active business.

The Oneonta Produce company has done an excellent business here and need of more space has long been felt. The fact that the Gorham building backs upon the D. & H. railroad and that switching facilities are readily available was another impelling motive in the purchase of the property. The resident manager of the concern is Myer Cohn of 78 Ford avenue.

Mr. Gorham feels that his many years of labor at his trade justify him to retire and accordingly he will retire from business on October 1 or as soon as he can use up the stock of raw material which he has on hand and settle up his affairs.

Mr. Gorham came to Oneonta in 1893 from Albany, where he had conducted a repair business for many years, and with his brother-in-law, Melvin Goodrich, purchased the Sullivan machine shop on Market, then Mechanic street, located in the building now occupied by the Quality Silk company. Two years later Mr. Gorham bought out Mr. Goodrich and has since conducted the business alone, doing quality machine work of all kinds. The brick block which he has now sold was built by him in 1905. It is a substantial two story structure and should make an excellent location for the Produce company.

BOXES AT BIG DANCE.

Committees Hard at Work on Important Phases of Great Affair.

The box feature, which met with such favor at the American Legion Armistice ball and the Community Athletic association dance, will be used again by the legion at the spring dance to be held at the state armory on April 23 by Oneonta post of the legion. The number of boxes will be strictly limited, however, as it is desired to have as much space as possible for the use of the hundreds who are expected to be present to hear Vincent Lopez and his Hotel Pennsylvania orchestra, recognized as the best dance music in the world. Reservations for the boxes may be made at the Carr Clothing company store.

Preparations for the big affair are going on apace, these being busy days for the committees in charge. The dance has been widely advertised throughout this section and arrangements are being made to handle a record crowd. The decoration and refreshment committees are hard at work and novel decorations and toothsome things to eat are promised. The floor committee is busy on plans to care for the wrang of those present in a manner that will avoid confusion and also to provide seats for the dancers during the rest periods.

Trouble Ended When "Trouble" Came

The four-legged hero of the South today is, strangely enough, named "Trouble." The faithful 3-year-old collie saved the lives of Virginia Hastings (shown with him in the picture) and Harvey Alexander, aged 4, when the two children were attacked by vicious hogs on the Hastings farm near Jonesboro, Ga. The hogs had chewed an ear on the Alexander child and were mauling the little girl when the dog hero arrived and drove them off.

AGED ONEONTA RESIDENT

Mrs. Jane E. Hozoboom, for many years a resident of Oneonta and vicinity, died at half past five o'clock Monday evening at her home, 35 1/2 Otsego street in this city. She had not been in good health for about a year, but during the past two weeks she had failed more rapidly. The immediate cause of her death was heart disease.

The funeral services will be held Thursday of this week at 2:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Parish of 165 Chestnut street. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Edson J. Farley of the First Baptist church and interment will be in the family plot in the Plains cemetery.

The deceased was born, December 13, 1839, in Pittsfield, Mass., and was the youngest and the last to survive of the five daughters of Jonathan and Miranda (Daniels) Hall. She was married about 55 years ago to Warren Hozoboom of Otsego, and from that time her home was in Otsego county. Her husband died about 20 years ago. Since his death Mrs. Hozoboom has resided in this city. She was a woman of fine qualities of mind and heart, a loving mother and a good neighbor, and she leaves many friends by whom she was highly esteemed who will sympathize in their bereavement with her daughters. Miss Martha Hozoboom resided with her mother at 24 1/2 Orange street, and Mrs. J. E. Parish, above named, who are the only immediate surviving members of her family.

ESTIMABLE WOMAN PASSES

News of Death of Mrs. Edward M. Roman With Cause Wide-spread Regret and Sympathy.

Katherine Broderick, wife of Edward M. Roman of this city and a woman held in the highest esteem and affection by all who knew her, died at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning at the Fairmount Sanitarium in Binghamton, where she had been a patient for some time. Mrs. Roman had not been in good health for many months and operations performed last October failed to give her relief, her condition becoming gradually worse from that time until her death yesterday.

The deceased was born April 9, 1867, at Hornell and was the daughter of Thomas and Katherine (Kerckhoff) Broderick. She received her early education at the Hornell academy and later was graduated from the Otsego Normal school. Three years of teaching at the Lincoln school in Hornell preceded her marriage, at Hornell on August 23, 1899, to Edward M. Roman. Her entire married life had been spent in Oneonta.

Surviving are the husband, two daughters, the Misses Katherine and Helen Roman, both in school at Boston, Mass., her aged father, who resides in Hornell, and one brother, George Broderick of Peoria, Ill. Mrs. Roman was a member of the Oneonta Woman's club and of the Catholic Daughters of America and while her health permitted was active in the affairs of both organizations. She was a devoted and devoted of a distinctive charm of manner, she was a woman whom to know was to admire and respect. One of her outstanding characteristics was her spirit of charity, charity originating in the heart and bestowed without show or ostentation. During the active years of her life she was continually striving to help others, especially those less fortunate than herself, and many a needy family has had life made more pleasant through her unsought and simple generosity.

A devoted wife and mother, her loss will be keenly felt in the family circle and to the bereaved relatives the deep sympathy of many will be extended.

Simple services will be held in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, of which she was a devoted member, on Friday at 2 p. m., Rev. Father William D. Noonan officiating, with a celebration of solemn high mass next week. Interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

ENTERTAINMENT OFFICERS

Martha (Lester, Eastern Star, Paid Official Visit by Mrs. Lillian E. D. Merching and Claude M. Coy — Everett Noble Secures.

The visit of Mrs. Lillian E. D. Merching, district deputy grand matron, and Claude M. Coy, assistant grand lecturer, of the Otsego-Schenectady district, Order of the Eastern Star, to Martha chapter of this city last evening was a most enjoyable event, three hundred members of the order being present to honor the visitors.

The grand officers were welcomed by the worthy matron, Miss Annette McLaury, who introduced them to the members in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Merching and Mr. Coy both addressed the gathering at some length, their messages abounding in well-chosen and clearly expressed sentiments and instructions of great interest to the gathering.

Other grand officers, also accorded an enthusiastic welcome, were: Mrs. Amelia Grady, Mrs. A. L. Jackson, Mrs. Evelyn Stearns, Mrs. Lillian Youngs Thoyson, Mrs. Ella Van-Cleft, Mrs. Nan Reid Coy and Mrs. Hazel Tabor, past district deputy grand matron, and James R. Gerling, E. W. Goldsmith and George Turner, past assistant grand lecturers. Also matrons and patrons of the chapter at Cooperstown, Unadilla, Schenectady, Hartwick and Richfield Springs, and past matrons and past patrons of nearly all of the chapters present, were warmly welcomed.

Over twenty chapters in this and adjoining districts were represented, many of them by large delegations, a token of the close fraternal feeling existing among the various chapters, which was very pleasing to the local organization. The adoptive degree was conferred and the superior work of the officers won many expressions of congratulation and praise.

Mrs. Merching was presented with a beautiful set of salad forks and Mr. Coy with a silver-buckled belt as tokens of the high regard in which they are held by the members of Martha chapter, the presentations being made by Mrs. Agnes C. Todd and James R. Gerling. Solos by Miss Minnie Parks added to the enjoyment of the evening.

At noon Mrs. Merching and the other visiting grand officers were entertained at luncheon at the Elks club by the "Past Matrons" club and the guests were entertained in the parlors of Masonic hall where a pleasant afternoon was passed.

Preceding the evening meeting the members and visitors enjoyed a delicious dinner in the Masonic banquet hall, with brothers of the order serving. The tables were tastefully arranged, the scheme of decoration being pussy-willows and tulips, and the menu cards were hand painted. The work of Mrs. Fanny Dickinson, a sister of Martha chapter.

A NATIVE OF SCHENEVUS

Isaac V. Lake Dies Monday at Home in Schenectady, Pa.

Isaac V. Lake, son of the late Isaac V. Lake and Mary Lake of Schenectady, died Monday, April 14, at his home in Schenectady, Pa., of which place he had been a resident for the past seven years. Funeral services will be held in Schenectady, and the body will be brought to Oneonta and placed in the vault in that cemetery for later interment in the family plot.

Mr. Lake, who was 65 years of age, is survived by one sister, Mrs. Andrew Hase of LaCrosse, Wis., and by four nieces and a nephew, Mrs. P. James Gallagher and Mrs. J. W. Higgins of Oneonta, Mrs. George P. Ebersole of Dallas, Texas, Mrs. H. S. Bell of Delhi and Arthur O. Lake of Sanitarium Springs.

P. J. Gallagher of this city left yesterday morning for Schenectady, where he will make necessary arrangements and later accompany the body to Schenectady for burial.

FIRE AT SCHENEVUS

Store Yesterday Afternoon Destroyed. Street Store on Main Street—Loss Partially Covered.

Schenectady, Apr. 13.—The store occupied by Peter Strait, who conducts a confectionary and cigar store there, in on Main street of this village, was completely gutted by fire this afternoon. Besides the loss of supplies and of household effects by Mr. Strait, the building, which is the property of Mrs. K. M. River of Albany will need considerable repair. The loss has not as yet been estimated, but is partially covered by insurance.

Some of the village was sounded at about 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and the department made a quick trip, but a stiff breeze had already gained headway. Only after strenuous and well directed work was the blaze extinguished. It is thought that a brush fire which Mr. Strait had started on the east side of the building must have in some way made its way to the cellar of the building, from whence it spread throughout the structure.

WOMAN LAWYER IN COURT

First Case in Delaware County Court History in Which Woman Has Appeared as Attorney.

Delhi, Apr. 15. — The April term of the county court, which ended abruptly today, was marked by an incident which sets a precedent in the history of Delaware county courts, a woman lawyer, a member of the Delaware county bar, took her place in the trial of the one case tried at this term. Mrs. Mable Fenton of Margarettville was associated with her husband as attorneys for the plaintiff in the case and sat at the attorney's table throughout the trial. This is the first time in the history of the Delaware county courts.

The case of Yapple vs. William G. Rizer and Henry Austin was commenced at the opening of court this morning. The parties reside in Andes and the chief question raised is whether Rizer, who is a constable, had the right to collect a tax on the property of Archer against the plaintiff by levying upon a quantity of hay, the ownership of which was in doubt. The court decided that this question is one of law and took the case from the jury. Briefs will be submitted and the verdict will be announced later. No other cases being ready for a jury, the jurors were excused until April 30th when they will return to hear the Cable will contest. It was expected that a lengthy term would result, but the transfer of the Kortright arson cases to the June term of the supreme court and the adjournment of the Cable will contest to April 30th, it remained but two days in session.

Stop Calomel and Harsh Cathartics!

Indigestion, Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Constipation Can Be Treated Best Without Drugs. Nameless Purgatives.

When your stomach is sour and gassy, when your liver is sluggish and your kidneys and bowels inactive, you are liable to feel miserable—and while in this condition the use of strong, mineral cathartics is a very unwise habit and may make your condition worse. As calomel, water and much more, pleasant way is to use some reliable vegetable purgative like Dr. David Kennedy's Calomel Remedy. This powerful, purely vegetable favorite has a positive record of more than 40 years of success—and it does not harm.

To help to eliminate poisonous waste, cleanse the blood and stimulate stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in general, health is essential. ## CAR THEF DOING LARGE BUSINESS

Motorist of Today Needs Device That Will Puzzle Skilled Mechanic.

By EDWIN GREEN, President (Owner) of Automobile Engineering, Chicago.

The automobile thief is doing a big business of late, and the police records show a large increase over that of last year. How, then, can the car owner protect his car from a thief? The answer is a device that will puzzle a skilled mechanic.

The motorist of today needs badly a contrivance that can be locked or unlocked from the car seat by the driver, or else something that will automatically remind the driver of its existence before he starts the engine again.

Something to Confuse.

Something which merely prevents the engine from being started in the ordinary way is of absolutely no use. For example, if the self-starter is disconnected by the car owner, there would be nothing to stop two or three men from starting the engine by pushing the car with the gears in mesh. Why not give the thief constructive, rather than destructive work? Let him build up instead of tearing down. Destruction is much more simple than construction, and it can be done with most any tool. Any prisoner, given time and a saw, can eventually break jail, therefore, if the device will break a connection of some sort, perhaps something that would temporarily prevent the engine transmitting power to the differential, it would be more likely to confuse the thief than a mere locking device, which could easily be destroyed, and allow the car to be driven away.

It isn't the fact of getting the better of a thief with only a few minutes' time in which to work out his getaway. It's got to be something that will puzzle the skilled mechanical thief, who has no longer time in which to accomplish his work.

Lock Gear in Neutral.

The majority of old-time motorists' suggestions seem to turn towards some device which will lock the gear in neutral, and, by the way, there are already numerous devices of this kind in existence, many of them operated with a Yale key. The keyhole is in reach of the driver, but in such a position as to make it awkward for the thief who tries to file off the device. But here again is a destructive rather than a constructive job, which brings us to where we started.

You, as a car owner, should take extra precautions if you go to unusual risks, in the way of leaving your car unattended. A few simple mechanical changes would help complicate the task of the thief.

Come on, you tinkering mechanics—set your ingenious brains to work on this most needed of automobile problems. There is big money for the man who succeeds in this venture.

PRIMARY VOTES COST $5 EACH

Survey-Two Voters of This City Voted to Spring Contest — Election Boards Composed of 25 Members.

According to the approximate cost of the spring presidential primary held in Oneonta on April 1, the 72 votes cast cost about $350, or nearly $5.00 each. And of these 72 votes it is safe to assume that 24 were cast by the members of the city election boards.

While all of the expenses are required by the provisions of the law, and the amounts at least fair, still it seems that the money could be used to better advantage. The interest in the whole affair was not even lukewarm, and it is hard to understand the importance of the appointments made.

The figure is based upon the report of city expense as presented to the common council at their meeting last evening, and an approximation of the other expenses which are known. The amount is far from fixed but it is believed to be as near accurate as possible.

11 CAPTURED OFFICERS OF REBEL FORCES EXECUTED

(By the Associated Press)

Mexico City, Apr. 15.—Three rebel generals, three colonels, four lieutenants, and one major have been tried by drum head court martial and executed at Ciudad Victoria, state of Tamaulipas, according to information received Monday from General Rafael Moreno, commander of the Ciudad Victoria garrison.

The generals executed were Mario Rendón, Alfredo Saucedo, and Severo Reza.

The generals and the other officers put to death were captured last Friday at Nixtencatlán when federal forces defeated the rebels under command of General Antonio Villarreal, who with General Manuel Larraga, is still at large.

MUST SERVE TERM FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Brooklyn Chiropractor Sentenced to Sing Sing for Term One to Two Years

New York, Apr. 12.—Ernest G. H. Meyer, a Brooklyn chiropractor, convicted of second degree manslaughter, was sentenced Monday to serve from one to two years in Sing Sing prison by Supreme Court Justice Hagerity. Meyer was found guilty of the death of six-year-old Caroline Germuth, who died of diphtheria. He has given the child chiropractor treatments and a physician was not called until it became apparent that other remedies were necessary.

The child died before the physician could give her any help. Before sentence was passed counsel for Meyer told the court that the chiropractor had treated the little girl for two years, bringing her "from a state of helplessness to something resembling health." The attorney pleaded for mercy.

DR. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLS RESIGNS FROM PASTORATE

New York, Apr. 12.—The resignation of Dr. Newell Dwight Hills as pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church in Brooklyn was announced Monday night.

Dr. Hills wrote the church board from Battle Creek, Mich., where he has been under treatment since collapsing in his study on January 11. The resignation was accepted and A. J. Meyers, chairman of the board, appointed a committee of nine to obtain a new pastor.

Dr. Hills, one of the best known clergymen in the United States, would have celebrated his 25th year as pastor of Plymouth church next month.

Hot Springs, Ark., Apr. 12.—Oscar Sullivan, chief of police, was shot and killed here Sunday. Hubert Coste, known as an itinerant gambler, surrendered to the sheriff early Monday and was put in jail.

Chief Sullivan is said to have told Coste not to gamble with visitors or he would be run out of town, but the police are unable to cite a cause for the shooting. Few persons were on the street when the men met, and no witnesses have been found. Sullivan had been chief of police here eight years, and was 50 years old.

DRY AGENT HELD FOR DEATH

Empire State's Favorite Sons, One Senator, Other Governor, Hold Strategic Positions At Party Convention.

By FRED A. EMERY

(Washington Correspondent of the International Syndicate, formerly Capital Manager of the Associated Press and Chief of Bureau of Foreign Intelligence, State Department.)

FOUR men were discussing politics in a famous club the other day. One was a Coolidge Republican Congressman. Another was a naval commander who had been back home idling among the seafaring voters who reflect town political sentiment. Another was a political prognosticator with a remarkable record for picking winners ahead of their run. The fourth was a newspaper man. Three out of the four agreed that Royal S. Copeland, medico extraordinary in American politics, had a strong chance for nomination at the Democratic National Convention. At the Capitol a little later, there was the same quiet talk-watch, Ralston or Copeland, and Ralston is almost seventy years of age.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, is a candidate, though he disavowed the filing of the Smith nominating petition in Illinois. United States Senator Royal S. Copeland is receptive. He is for "New York's choice." He is a regular and next to Smith, Ralston is likely to turn to him. He is not a member of that powerful organization, but ranks high in its estimation. He won high esteem from Mayor Hylan, Tammanyite, for his services in conserving the health of New York City while serving as its Health Commissioner. And New York has 36 votes in the Convention, its sister state, New Jersey, has 24, consanguineous Connecticut has 14, Rhode Island which plays with New York, has 10, Massachusetts, with 36 votes, might be friendly to him. Maryland, with its 16 votes, would not be against him. Michigan, his native state, has 36 votes. Not long ago Governor Neff, of Texas, whom the Lone Star is boosting for Vice-President, slipped into Washington and quietly lunched with Copeland. Texas has a block of 46 votes. The Taggart organization Democrats in Indiana, next to their favorite son Ralston, and the Brennan-based party machine in Illinois are not opposed to either Smith or Copeland. Georgia, Virginia and North Carolina are not unfriendly. And there is quiet discussion of his availability in Iowa, Washington, Colorado and other states.

While far from predicting that Copeland would command united support from all these states, where other candidates also figure, the combined vote of the states mentioned, if thrown to him, would give him a nucleus of 200,000 votes necessary to nominate.

What About Smith?

Smith's stock as a candidate has been soaring, especially in New York state. Many interpret his candidacy in good faith. Many others regard him as a stalking horse and New York would be for New York. His boom was launched at a conference attended by prominent Democrats from New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Illinois—a well-bet. A year ago, at a Jefferson dinner at home and Democratic Club, of which both Smith and Copeland are members, tax reduction, restoration of direct primaries, popular initiative on constitutional amendments, filing of pre-election statements of campaign expenditures, and extension of gubernatorial terms from two to four years. He also favors minimum wage and other labor legislation, immediate enforcement of the state constitutional amendment for soldiers' bonus and other important legislation.

He is stamped and labeled politically as a wet candidate, but recently he convened a conference to formulate a plan to effect a strict enforcement of prohibition. "Yes," he said, "I am a wet candidate, but I am a candidate for the Board of Aldermen in New York, and I am now serving his second term as Governor. He beat Gov. Charles S. Whitman in 1919 and came back in 1922, defeating Gov. Nathan I. Miller by 386,000 plurality. The naval oil disclosures at Washington affecting the political future of the then leading candidate for the Democratic nomination, bolstered the Governor's friends.

His sweeping victory over Miller, and his recent success in putting through a hostile legislature the anti-wet bill. A year ago, at a Jefferson dinner at home and Democratic Club, of which both Smith and Copeland are members, tax reduction, restoration of direct primaries, popular initiative on constitutional amendments, filing of pre-election statements of campaign expenditures, and extension of gubernatorial terms from two to four years. He also favors minimum wage and other labor legislation, immediate enforcement of the state constitutional amendment for soldiers' bonus and other important legislation.

He is stamped and labeled politically as a wet candidate, but recently he convened a conference to formulate a plan to effect a strict enforcement of prohibition. "Yes," he said, "I am a wet candidate, but I am a candidate for the Board of Aldermen in New York, and I am now serving his second term as Governor. He beat Gov. Charles S. The naval oil disclosures at Washington affecting the political future of the then leading candidate for the Democratic nomination, bolstered the Governor's friends.

garded as asset or liability. And Copeland, despite his decisive defeat of a strong Republican governor in the two elections, there is some anti-Smith sentiment within the party.

Copeland Receptive Candidate

Geographically, politically, religiously and personally Copeland has no hurdles to jump over. Methodist since early manhood he was for 12 years treasurer of the national board of control of the Epworth League. He has hurt no one; he has offended no wing of the party. Quitting the Health Commissioner of New York to become United States Senator, he thanked Mayor Hylan for being "the best boss any man ever had."

Copeland defeated his Republican opponent for the Senate in 1922 by a majority of almost 50,000 votes, which gave him prestige as a vote-getter.

Brennan, Taggart and other organization chiefs, realize fully the odds against any candidate, either for nomination or election, who is Catholic, irrespective of the merits of that faith, or whose attitude is pronouncedly wet, even though publicly advocating enforcement of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

Public Issues

Standing squarely on the Federal platform, Senator Copeland disavows the "wet and dry" by taking the position that prohibition is not a party question. Discussing the disclosures at Washington, he said public life, irrespective of party lines, must be cleansed of all taint of corruption. He does not believe that tax reduction and the soldiers' bonus are "so related that one must die if the other lives."

He defended labor unions, and the right to collective bargaining before the Cleveland Real Estate Board and before the New York State Bankers' association he warned the founders against the discontent of the people. On other occasions he has said that there cannot be national happiness until every man is made a decent piece of property of labor, and decent conditions wherever labor is employed.

On foreign relations, Copeland favors economic effort to relieve the misery of the world. He contends that the most bitter opponent of the League of Nations cannot object to a plan for the economic rehabilitation of the world. Head.

A Versatile Career

Fifty-six years ago Copeland was born in the sleepy little village of Dexter, Michigan. He graduated from Michigan institutions. He took the degree of doctor of medicine at the University of Michigan. Lawrence University made him Master of Arts and Syracuse University in New York made him doctor of Laws. He is an optimist, which to the lay world means expert on eyes. After extensive post graduate training here and abroad he had five years of general practice in Michigan and fifteen years served as professor in the medical department of the University of Michigan. He was doctor of Ann Arbor and otherwise active in Michigan public affairs. Then he went to New York serving ten years as dean of the Flower Hospital Medical College. He organized Hospital Unit "N" when America entered the World War. He was Mayor's Commissioner of Health and later Commissioner, when he came to the Senate.

THE RED ENEMY of the FORESTS

AIRPLANE PATROL, CLEVELAND NATIONAL FOREST, CAL.

FIRE FINDER MANNED BY ONE OF UNCLE SAM'S LADY LOOKOUTS, ONE NATIONAL FOREST, CAL.

Some of the patrolmen were equipped with the climbers and by telegraph lines, for easy access to the tops of tall trees from which wide stretches of country could be observed.

Since this crude beginning the lookout system of the public forests has grown into an elaborate fabric of permanent lookout stations equipped with the most approved scientific apparatus for the detection of incipient fires and co-operation with an effective machine in the form of organized fire-fighting forces. The modern station is a bit of the most advanced civilization in the heart of the wilds. In this structure the observer spends his hours of duty, with everything at hand for simplifying his work.

The Lookout Station

In the western forests the standard type of fire lookout is a square one-room building with hip roof, set on a foundation of stone or concrete, or bolted to the natural boulder, and built in place by great gun-wires. The sides of the structure including the door, are made of heavy glass extending upward from within three feet of the floor, to afford perfect view in all directions. The frequency with which the earlier lookout stations were struck by lightning has made it necessary to equip the structures with lightning protectors. A telephone line connects the observer's lookout table with the headquarters of the district supervisor and with the various ranger stations within the forest, so that the fire may be quickly collected.

The observer is furnished with a heavy wooden table, securely bolted to the floor to insure preservation of the points of the compass as marked on its surface, on this table rests a "fire-finder," the invention of a member of the Forest Service, which makes possible the determination of the location of a fire. By means of this instrument the observer is enabled in report to headquarters the precise spot on which a wisp of smoke or a curling tongue of flame has been spotted.

With this knowledge the fire fighters are in position to rush to the place without loss of time and to gain the advantage which comes with prompt attention. The saving of property thus effected is beyond calculation, but it is definitely established that since the introduction of modern methods of fire observation a small percentage of fires on the public forests have reached any considerable size.

The fire lookouts in some of the eastern and Lake states are of different type, adapted to a flat and rolling country in which there are few mountains. In these regions the problem is to get an elevation which enables the observer to command a view over the treetops and across a wide stretch of country.

HARNEY PEAK LOOKOUT, HARNEY NATIONAL FOREST, S.D.

In the early days of the work the tower was served by wooden ladders built of logs. Today, however, the towers are constructed of concrete and built on a base of eighty feet, and usually topped with an observatory with glass sides.

End Of The Old Tower

The development of the modern fire tower has brought a change in the type of observers as well. The old-timer has disappeared. This type was the seasoned woodsman, who knew his territory like a book, but who was ignorant and incapable of scientific understanding. The place of the old-timer has been taken by the educated observer, skilled in topography and surveying, who can handle complicated instruments and maintain a record of concise observations on weather conditions, areas of visibility and other important data which all lookouts are required to keep.

One of the most effective eyes of the forest is the airplane. An elaborate and automatic aerial patrol is maintained by the Forest Service in cooperation with the United States Army Air Service. In this work the planes patrol an immense territory within a single hour which the man on horseback could not cover in months. Another important factor is that the fire is able to penetrate into regions in which the man's observation could not make his way, under any circumstances.

The importance of fire protection for the forests is emphasized by the action at large by the Forestry Commission of Canada, which held the week of April 21-27 as Forest Protection Week.

Fire Destroys Vast Quantities of Woodland Every Year—Elaborate Protective System Maintained—The Eyes of the Forest.

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON

FIGHTING the forest fire of the great woodland regions is an endless chapter of romance, thrill and individual heroism.

Fire is the red enemy of the forests. The annual sweep of this destructive element covers more territory than is embraced in the cutting of timber for the production of lumber. Property destruction aggregating twenty five million dollars a year is by no means unusual in the record of the forest fire of the United States. The burned over territory of a twelve month period approximates the combined areas of Massachusetts, New Jersey and Delaware.

The most startling phase of the forest fire question is that the greater number of the fires are started by human beings. Within the confines of the National Forests for year-made blazes were responsible for two-thirds of the destruction. Chief among the causes was human carelessness. One of the principal offenders was the huckleberry hunter with his blazing campfire and with no regard to the dry brush and under of the forest floor. Sparks from pipe, camp and cigarette added their quota to the toll of damage. Camp fires left unattended by departing hunters and trappers caused the greater part of the forest fires.

Human care must be added the deliberate activity of the firebug and the forces of nature—the latter represented by the flash of lightning incendiary fires are of constant occurrence, with spite work as a common motive.

Both East And West Affected

To most of us the forest fire is a product of the western mountains. In thinking of the sweeping tongue of flame we are apt to associate it with the vast forests of the western states. That this conception is not entirely correct is shown by the prevalence of forest fire in the woodland regions of the southern and northeastern states and in the vicinity of the Great Lakes.

Fire protection in the wooded areas is receiving serious attention at the hands of the Federal and State governments and the private owners of timber lands. Organized effort takes the form of prevention as well as fighting the fires after they have started. Experience has shown that much of the loss is unnecessary and that the best results come from constant watchfulness.

The eyes of the forest are a development of recent years. By means of several hundred lookout towers the United States Forest Service keeps ever-ready watch over the vast stretches of the land lands belonging to this branch of the Government. These towers are scattered over the country in positions of strategic importance from which a wide sweep of vision is open to the observer. The favorite locations are on the peak of a tall mountain, commanding the adjacent territory for miles in all directions. From this point of vantage the watchers are always on the lookout—always searching for a suggestion of a newly started blaze.

In these lookout stations men are found the best of modern preventive methods are applied to the destructive forest fire. The one way to save the forest is to detect the blaze before it gains headway. When a fire once gains a firm foothold it becomes a devouring monster before which the efforts of men are given the extreme test.

Ground Patrol First Used

The first development of protection for the Forest Service took the form of an extensive system of ground patrol. Under this method established trails were patrolled by men known as "smoke chasers," with the special duty of constant search for signs of fire. These men carried mountain tops and other elevations and kept their eyes open for the smoke of newly started blazes. Tree-climbing was one of the requirements of the men in this

INSECT PESTS COST NATION $2,000,000,000 EVERY YEAR

By S. W. Strass, President American Society for Thrift

Few of us realize, perhaps, that our nation is today at war with an enemy as relentless as any human foe could be. This condition of warfare costs us $2,000,000,000 annually. Between 10 and 20 per cent of our crops are destroyed by insects. Each of us pays a tribute of nearly $20 a year to these pests.

And the menace is steadily increasing! No less an authority than L. O. Howard, Chief of the Bureau of Entomology, Department of Agriculture, frankly states that "damage by insects is growing greater."

What has been called officially a "Hindenburg Line" has been established from Long Island to Canada as part of the effort to check the Westward march of the gypsy moth.

Equally vigorous defensive warfare is being carried on in the Central States to prevent the corn-borer from reaching the great corn-belt of America. This pest, which came originally from Hungary and Southern Russia, has reached the lake borders of Ohio and Michigan. In New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania the Japanese beetle has laid waste fruit, vegetables and forests in an area of 770 square miles. Relentless warfare, costing millions of dollars, alone can prevent its spread to other sections.

Since 1893 the South has fought the boll-weevil, but happily the tide of battle has at last been turned against this invader and our cotton fields.

The San Jose scale, Hessian fly, Mediterranean fruit-fly, green bug, chinch bug, cloverseed midge and a hundred other species of destructive insects exist in this country, each of which we are told, causes a damage of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. Moreover, each of these species may become the source of incalculable loss if not held in check through incessant vigilance.

We owe a greater debt to our government and to the entomological bureaus of our various states than we appreciate.

There is a glorious lesson in citizenship to be learned from this situation. Were it not for the solid and orderly organization of government and its attendant scientific activities, these insects would destroy our food supply and force us to fight for life itself.

Where Do You Want Your Car to Perform? On Paper or on the Road?

PERFORMANCE is now the popular theme in automobile advertising—particularly among the makers of moderately priced sixes.

Over-bold claims and counter claims are being hurled at the public to establish some sort of performance supremacy.

Manufacturers whose engineering staffs have not yet developed a compact, powerful, efficient motor, dwell on the bigness of their power plants.

To impress the layman they print statistics; and the engineer who knows the tendencies of modern motor design, enjoys a smile.

Please forget the statistics—many a perpetual-motion machine performs beautifully on paper.

Please remember this unarguable fact: There is only one place to prove automobile performance, and that is on the highways and up the hills!

If a car takes the hardest, steepest hill with masterful ease; if it sweeps along at high speeds with Futiman car smoothness; if it can literally leap from a crawl to twenty-five miles an hour, statistics and over-bold claims are unnecessary.

We make the simple statement that, in each and every phase of performance, the Cleveland Six has no equal in its class!

Will you come in and let us convince you? We promise to do it on the road, not with a pad and pencil.
